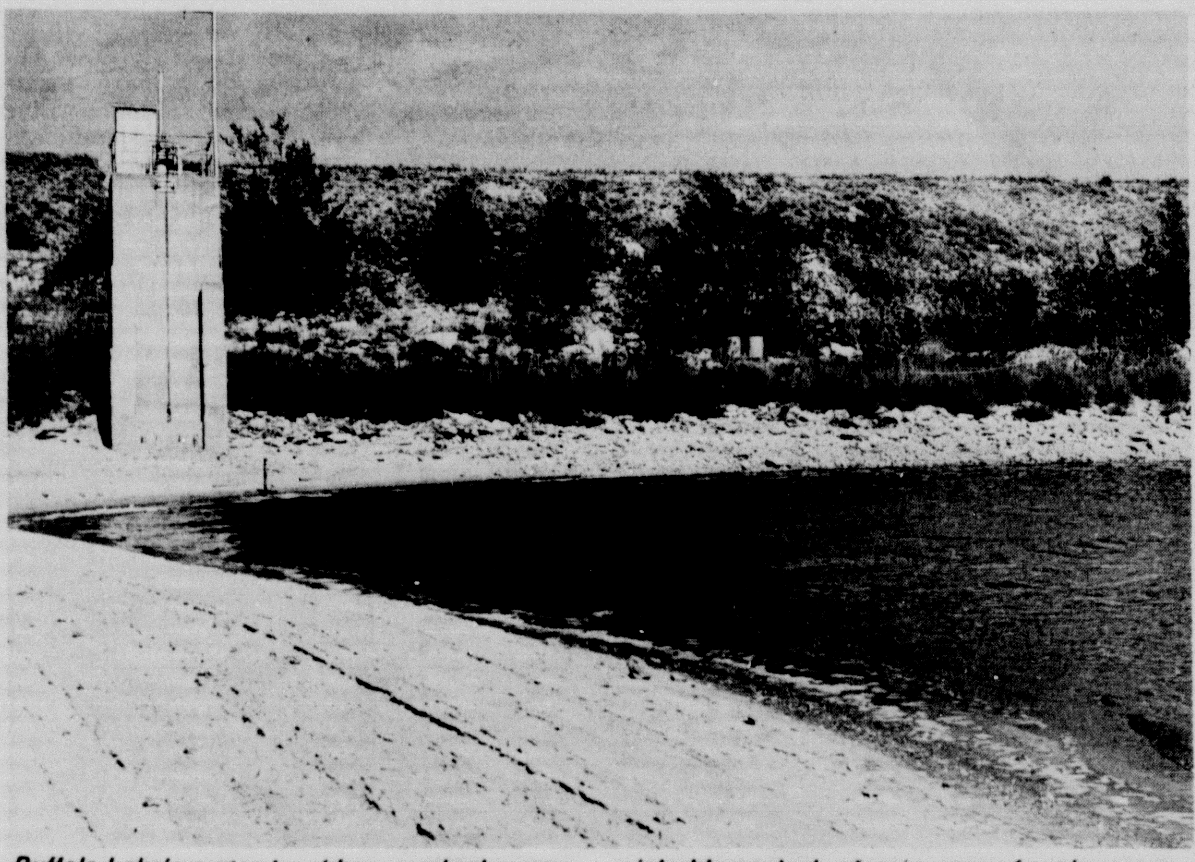
Davis Off Ballot



Buffalo Lake's water level has reached a new all-time low with a surface span measurement of 200 acres. The wildlife refuge has measured 1000 surface acres in the past. Wildlife officials blame lack of rain, new farming practices, and feedlot drainage for the lake's decline.

Water Hits All-Time Low At Buffalo Lake

BY CAROL CRAIN

Buffalo Lake is experiencing the lowest water level since the dam was built in 1941, according to Paul Ferguson, manager of the Lake's Wildlife Refuge Department.

Lack of rain combined with the old feedlot drainage problem, the vegetable processing plants, and the changing farm practices have all contributed to the lake's decline.

The lake is currently down to some 200 surface acres surpassing the prior all time low in the spring of 1960. Lake officials expect this year to go down in the record books as one of the driest in the lake's history.

In recent years the lake's surface has had as high an average as 900 to 1000 surface acres.

"The level seems to go in cycles," Ferguson said, indicating that the water level which does rise on occasion as it did on May 5, 1969, but it doesn't stay up.

"It's been three years since there's been any appreciative flow of water," Ferguson stated.

The small rains aren't of much benefit because the stream bed is so dry that a high saturation level must be reached before there is any worthwhile stream flowing into the lake.

The changing farm practices that Ferguson mentioned include the numerous small dams that have been built on the stream for field irrigation purposes deterring the lake's inflow.

Farmers have also started cultivating former pasture land to retain rain water, keeping additional water from the lake.

As the lake level gets lower the algae continues to increase, not allowing plants vital to fish health to grow. The wildlife department is presently treating this problem and hopes to soon have it under control.

Game fish of all types are currently in the hatcheries ready to go into Buffalo Lake, but unless the water level goes up and the algae is controlled, the fish will not be stocked in the lake.

Fishermen, boaters, skiers, and picnicers once flocked to the lake and considered it a key recreation area. The lake's pollution problem, however, has caused a sharp decline in the number of visitors.

The wildlife bureau is trying to do as much as possible to solve the lake's problem, Ferguson said, and pointed out that the decline of the public's activities at the lake has had its advantages as far as the wildlife is concerned.

Mule deer have been making an appearance that they haven't made in the past. Waterfowl are continuing to frequent the lake which now has a duck population of some 3,000 birds.

About 40,000 to 44,000 geese are expected at the lake sometime in November.

The south end of the lake is being closed for the wildlife's use exclusively.

Ferguson came to West Texas three years ago, after working at lakes in Northwest Iowa and Southern Illinois.

"I thought the lake was low when I came here," he noted, "but even that can't compare to its level today."

He is scheduled to speak to the American Association of University Women Saturday at 2:00 p.m. at the Kenneth Laycock home, 704 Taylor Lane.

Ferguson will speak on the topic "Pollution in the Panhandle" and show a film on water pollution from the Conservation Education Department called "The Gift."

Hostesses for the dessert meeting are Mrs. Kenneth Laycock, Miss Mattie Sue Howell, Mrs. Ada Crager, Mrs. Joe Carver, and Mrs. Bill Lee.

Women's Chamber Dinner Tuesday

Reservations for the Tuesday dinner meeting of the women's division of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce must be made by today.

The dinner, to be held at 7:00 p.m. at Hunsley Hills Country Club will feature Mrs. Francis Ferguson, president of the Borger Women's Division.

Mrs. Ferguson will speak on the topic "What It Takes to Make An All-American City." Borger won the Life magazine award two years ago.

Points for building Borger to an "All America City" status will be discussed and will include the following areas: establishment of an operation facelift, the rebuilding of downtown main street, provision of off street parking, finding a place for senior citizens, providing adequate recreational facilities, instituting a junior achievement program, abating air pollution, establishing an industrial foundation, restructuring a declining school program, initiating day care centers and kindergartens, inviting businessmen on patrol, making overall civic improvements, and overcoming population decline.

Tickets for the dinner are $2 each and reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Don Max Vars at 655-3260 and Mrs. Eddie Knowles at 655-4542.

The Canyon group has 39 members and meets each January, April, July, and October. The executive board meets monthly.

Officers for the group are president, Mrs. Dean Nicholas; 1st vice president, Mrs. Kenneth Olsen; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Don Max Vars; secretary, Mrs. Pete Donnell; treasurer, Mrs. Bernard Warren; parliamentarian, Mrs. Bob Lindsey; and directors Mrs. Dorothy Neblett and Mrs. A.B. Holt.

Committee chairmen are beautification, Mrs. Eddie Knowles; hospitality, Mrs. J.L. Markham; public affairs, Mrs. Virginia Cotten; banquet and decorations, Mrs. Lee Reeves; membership, Mrs. Don Max Vars; and fine arts, Mrs. Hiram T. Carr.

Any interested persons are invited to the dinner and current members are asked to each bring a guest.

Appeal Status Is Still Uncertain

Randall County ballot for the Nov. 3 general election went to the printer Tuesday without the name of Francis "Guy" Davis on it.

"I was told by two judges not to have it printed on the ballot," said Leroy Hutton, Randall County Clerk.

Davis had sought a place on the ballot to oppose incumbent Republican Bill Butler for county commissioner, Precinct 4. Butler has no other opponent. The Democrats did not field a candidate.

Davis, who was active in the American Party in 1968, was first denied a place on the ballot by County Judge Carroll Brown. Judge Brown contended that Davis did not file his intention to run by the date prescribed by statute.

District Judge E. E. "Gene" Jordan held with Judge Brown when the case was heard in 47th District Court.

Davis has filed his appeal with the Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo.

Mrs. Mavis Hill, clerk of the appeals court, said recently that the hearing might not be held for several months if a motion for advancing the date of the hearing is not filed with and accepted by the court.

County Clerk Hutton said he would start mailing ballots overseas Saturday. He said he has 55 applications for overseas mailings.

Absentee balloting in person begins Oct. 14 in the county clerk's office.

Hutton said persons just turned 21 years old should register by noon Saturday in the county tax office. "Anyone 21 after July 31, 1970 or who will be 21 before the election may vote provided he registers," said Hutton.

Servicemen discharged after Jan. 1, 1970 may participate in the election if they register before Oct. 29. The same rule applies to their wives.

New residents from out of state who moved here between Oct. 1, 1969 to Nov. 3, 1969 can register, but must register in the tax office no later than Oct. 3.

Citizens outside the country or servicemen may send applications for ballots. Applications for servicemen are available at military posts while citizens outside the country may get applications at embassies or consulates.

Citizens moving from one county to another in Texas must transfer their registration by Oct. 29 at the tax office of the county of which he is currently a resident.

Such voters, if they have lived in the county less than 6 months, must vote a limited ballot in the county clerk's office during the period of absentee voting from Oct. 14-30.

If such a voter has lived in the county 6 months or more he must transfer his registration in the tax office and vote in the precinct of which he is a resident.

Voters out of town during the period of absentee voting by personal appearance and who will be out of town on election day should apply for a ballot to the county clerk including his registration certificate with the application. Deadline for such application is Oct. 30.

Envelope containing the voted ballot must be postmarked by midnight Nov. 2 and must be received by the county clerk by 1 p.m. Nov. 3 in order to be tallied.

Court Discusses Indigent Cases

Randall County commissioners Monday discussed procedure in handling indigent people seeking medical care at the county's expense.

County Judge Carroll Brown said Randall County cases are investigated by the investigator for the Amarillo Hospital District. "She knows a lot more about it than I do," he said. "She doesn't hesitate to recommend it when there is an actual need, but she can also find out if people have income and just don't want to spend it on hospitalization."

Judge Brown said he has encountered cases where people seeking care as indigents are using money to pay for television sets and expecting the county to pay their hospital bills.

Commissioner Glenn Dowlen said he just wanted to make certain that a person in need of such care is not neglected. Judge Brown assured the court that this would not happen.

The court Monday afternoon deferred action on three bids on two segments of proposed paving, one being a mile in length and the other .6 of a mile. Both are in Precinct 4. There were three bidders.

Commissioners authorized County Clerk Leroy Hut-

Althea Fisher, Brooklyn, New York sophomore, is taking voice lessons from Cha Cha, the parrot. Even though the bird owned by Dr. Ples Harper speaks Spanish as well as English, Miss Fisher is concentrating on his voice patterns and inflections. Sophomores have been piling up the wood this week for the annual Homecoming bonfire. The bonfire will be set ablaze tonight immediately after the Junior Varsity's game with Dumas. Roy Markham is chairman of the effort and Marla Phillips is class president.

Homecoming Activities Get Under Way Tonight

The annual Homecoming bonfire will be set off tonight immediately following the Junior Varsity's game with Dumas.

The bonfire will spark a two day schedule of events including Queen coronation, football game, and Italian spaghetti supper.

Canyon-exes will be welcomed back to the high school all day Friday and especially at the 11:15 a.m. pep rally and at the 2:30 p.m. Homecoming assembly.

Queen candidates will be presented at the assembly in a program arranged by Charlotte Brantley. The four beauties who are vying for the honor are Celia Caskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Flavil Caskey; Janna Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson; Robbie Ramsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Ramsey; and Jan Westfall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Westfall. Final voting was held Monday.

Eddie Knowles of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce will present the "Merit Award for Academic Excellence" to the school in honor of the students from the class of 1970 who had a four year average of 94 or better.

An Italian Spaghetti supper will be served in the school cafeteria from 5:30 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. by the Canyon Band Parents Booster Club.

Tickets for the event are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students and may be purchased from any band member or at the door.

The queen coronation is set for 7:30 p.m. in Buffalo Bowl. The Homecoming game between CHS and Lubbock High School will begin at 8:00 p.m.

First Canyon Baby Is Dead

The first white child born in what is now the city of Canyon is dead.

Lee Conner Hale died Sept. 5 at Crossville, Tenn.

He was named after the founder of Canyon, L.G. Conner. He was born April 14, 1891, and died at the age of 79.

Conner gave the boy a lot in Canyon. It was sold some years later when the family moved to Tennessee.

Mr. Hale lived out his life in Cumberland, County, Tenn. His picture hangs in the court house there.

Eagles Gird For Westerner Clash

BY TROY MARTIN

Canyon's Eagles, still hungry for a victory, take on the historically powerful Lubbock Westerners at 8 o'clock Friday evening in a homecoming clash in Buffalo Bowl.

The Westerners have two victories and one tie under their belts for the season while the hometowners have been edged in their first three outings.

The Westerners trounced Midland Lee 26-14, tied Odessa Ector 7-7, and crushed the Sandies 26-13 last week end in Lubbock.

The Eagles have lost 6-0 to Clovis, 7-6 to Spearman and 14-7 to Caprock.

The Westerners deploy from a pro set and use the Houston Veer offense. The Houston Veer is a double threat option play from both sides.

Chad Utley, Westerner left halfback, is the Lubbock running threat while Quarterback Larry Williamson is their second best.

Williamson is also a passer and may give the hosts some trouble in this department. The Eagles are stingy with real estate and the visitors may just take to the air.

The Westerners have an offensive line averaging about 190 pounds and a defensive line that will average about 195.

Coach Dunny Goode is making some changes in his lineup moving three promising sophomores up from the junior varsity. Sam Kerbel will play offensive center.

Sam tips the scales at 200 pounds and is 5 foot, 10. He is the son of Buffalo Coach Joe Kerbel and a brother of Joe Junior who played center for both the Eagles and the Buffaloes.

Bill Moore will play fullback. Moore is a strong boy with average speed and a weight of 170 pounds. He is a brother of Joe Moore who currently is playing center for the Baylor Bears.

The third boy being moved up to the varsity is Matt Hansen who will play left halfback. He too has a family football tradition.

His brother, Andy, made all-district two years in a row for the Eagles and now is a student at the Air Force Academy. Matt weighs 155 pounds.

The Eagles will be without the services of Allen Bedell, probably for the next three weeks. Bedell, shifted from end to left halfback, suffered a knee injury on the second play from scrimmage in the Caprock game last Friday night.

Coach Goode was pleased with everything but the score in the Caprock game.

"We beat them every way but on the score board," said Coach Goode. "But that's the major statistic."

Canyon gained 200 yards while Caprock gained only 102 and were on top 11 to 8 in the first down department.

"We were hurt on our punting," Coach Goode declared. The Eagles punted 6 times for 91 yards and an average of 15 while the Longhorns averaged 35 yards on five punts.

Barbary Season Set For Autum

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will issue 129 permits this year to harvest auodad or Barbary sheep in Palo Duro Canyon. Twenty-one permits will go to landowners along the canyon in Randall County.

Last year, landowners had 125 permits for hunters in Armstrong, Randall, Briscoe and Floyd Counties. Twenty-eight rams and eight ewes were killed last year, when the season ran in January.

The season for auodad hunting is in mid-fall this year--from Nov. 14-20. It will be the longest season authorized for the harvesting of the wily animals here.

Stanley Taft, with the wildlife management section of the Parks and Wildlife Department, said the department expects a much better harvest this year due to the lenthened earlier sea-

COVERING FUMBLES

FROM THE CANYON RIM

I talked to three lawyers Monday who say County Judge Carroll Brown is running well in his campaign to unseat Don Dean, presiding judge of the newly created 181st District Court.

They say Brown "just looks like a judge" and that his bill boards are impressive. The campaign hasn't got under way good yet.

Brown has some things going for him in Randall County. He is incumbent county judge in a county which swamped Preston Smith in 1968. Governor Smith appointed Judge Dean to the bench.

Also he has a reputation of conservative frugality which is likely to sit well with conservative voters in the county. Both Brown and Dean are residents of Randall County.

Brown came to the court as the protege of Bill Butler, the county commissioner from Precinct 4 who is Mr. Randall County Republican. Butler is going to be working for Judge Brown down to the wire.

To cap it off, Judge Brown has a very likeable personality. He meets the public well.

He also has some obstacles. He is sometimes arbitrary in his decisions from the bench. He is as capable of alienating as he is of charming. People who know him are inclined to feel rather strongly about him, one way or another.

Judge Brown remained on the bench in Randall County after what amounted to an ultimatum that his salary be raised almost a third. The judge got the raise but has continued to spend what some consider too much time attending to private practice.

The county judge has going for him an impeccable reputation and a fine family which would be an asset to any man, much less one seeking a public trust.

Judge Dean also has a charming family that hits the campaign trail with him. He is a church worker of many years standing and members of his church flock to his aid.

He has a reputation as an astute attorney and his record as judge of the 181st District Court these past few months is one of which any jurist would be proud.

The manner in which he ran his court during the recent marijuana trials is bound to bring him in a lot of votes.

His comments from the bench have often been wise beyond his years. I personally think it would show voter wisdom if they keep this young man on the job. I think he is a seedling of the leadership that the area badly needs.

Commissioner Bill Butler is running as though he had an opponent. In fact, he may have. Although the Randall County ballot has gone to press without the name of Francis "Guy" Davis on it, Davis may emerge as a write in candidate.

Davis has sought and been denied by the courts a place on the ballot to oppose Butler for the Precinct 4 commission post.

Butler said he is not taking any chances on a write in scheme for Davis."I'm campaigning just like I would if Davis had his name on the ballot," Butler told me this week.

Personally, I think Davis is a much more potent candidate as a write in than he ever would be if his name were actually on the ballot. If Butler's supporters in the precinct get out and vote, Davis doesn't have a chance, on or off the ballot.

But if he plays a write in game, complacency on the part of Butler people just could elect Davis.

Speaking of the grape growers in California, Richard Vasquez, leader in the Chicano movement, told a West Texas State audience Monday night that "If a man can't pay a liveable wage he should close up shop and do something else."

This brings up several questions.

Who defines a liveable wage?

What will the grape pickers do if the grape growers do quit?

The consumer ultimately will absorb the extra cost of producing the grapes.

Truly an era ended in Canyon's history this month. The first child born within its city limits died at the age of 79 in Tennessee. He was Lee Conner Hale, born April 14, 1891.

Some of his relatives were in Canyon last year looking for the lots which L. G. Conner, founder of Canyon, gave the baby boy because Hale was named after him.

I showed the relatives around the paper and sent Mr. Hale a copy of The Canyon News historical edition which contained 86 pages published in 1964 on the occasion of the city's diamond jubilee.

Who is paying for the campus riots in which public property is damaged?

Insurance premiums on campuses throughout the country are skyrocketing says Parade Magazine. Colleges are passing the bill on to students and parents in hefty tuition increases.

At Columbia, where rioters caused $60,000 worth of damage in 1968, insurance premiums were raised from $117,000 to $140,000. Tuition for undergraduates is up to $2560 from $2324 and for graduate students it is $2160 this year as compared to $1980 last year.

Companies have set deductibles on some campuses so high that it becomes almost impractical to carry insurance.

Letter To The Editor

Randall County Police Department,
c/o Amarillo Police Department
Amarillo, Texas

Gentlemen:

In this modernized free-thinking, rioting, slandering society of headlines and newscasts of police who are spat upon, humiliated by the name "pig" and degraded by news media who slant coverage to make them appear murderers when they have to shoot some law violator in the performance of their duties, I wonder how long even one such officer has been commended for acts of mercy above and beyond the call of duty? I can recall no such recent account — not even one in many months!

Yet, such an incident happened in your area about 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 20. Performance by this officer may not make the bold print headlines, the TV spots, and radio, newspapers, etc., but in my estimation, and in esti-

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

It seems as if recent rejoicing over modern medicine having practically eliminated contagious diseases was a bit premature. The experts have had to resort to the old-fashioned quarantine in an attempt to control the latest outbreaks of diphtheria and cholera. How long will it take our government experts to resort to the same remedy to try to stop the "lemming" fever that has infected our government-by-bureaucracy?

How long can America survive the current epidemics that are raging across our beautiful land?

Congress allows Presidential commissions to spend $millions to give them a diagnosis that the average taxpayer could give them for nothing. But the experts blame all the wrong "germs" for the "diseases."

Remember the experts who said crime in the slums was purely environmental? Clean, comfortable housing was all the slum dwellers need to transform them into producive citizens.

So Congress spent billions of hard-earned tax dollars building beautiful public-housing projects. Did it solve the problem?

On the contrary, 40% of public housing is reportedly vacant because crime is so rampant in the projects that honest people are afraid to live there. And attempts to repair the constant vandalism costs more money than the meagre rents produce, so public-housing projects are rapidly becoming worse slums than the original shacks.

Has Congress learned a lesson from this fiasco? Apparently not. More money has been appropriated to build more public housing. And this in the face of a national debt of around $375 billion.

The Carnegie Corp. at a cost of $300,000 has just finished a three-year study of public education in America. The experts discovered that, as a rule, classroom instruction is dull. Anyone who ever spent 12 years in public school could have told C. C. that--for free.

The reason learning is "grim" and "joyless" says C.C. is because teachers insist on discipline and order in the classrrooms. The "experts" are recommending that each pupil be allowed to "pursue his own interests."

Should parents be forced to pay teachers' salaries, and finance high-priced buildings just so their children can pursue their own interests? They could do that at home.

Any person who has completed public school can testify to the fact that some learning experiences were exhilirating; others were dull in varying degrees--and discipline and order probably was not a factor in either case. Dull teachers coupled with dull textbooks do indeed make classrooms grim and joyless. But why should learning experiences be expected to produce constant joy? Treasure is usually difficult to acquire, and education is a priceless treasure.

However, when a teacher knows his subject, and communicates that knowledge with zeal and enthusiasm, discipline problems seldom arise among normal students. The exceptional ones should be placed in classes for exceptional children.

The first account of creation records that the Creator brought order out of chaos. Jesus refused to feed the hungry multitudes until they sat down in orderly companies of fifty. The human body ceases to function when there is a major interference with its order. An automobile is useless when its vital parts are out of order. Order is essential to all forms of progress and productivity.

Where is there a better place for children to learn to live in an orderly society than an orderly classroom? And if we don't restore order to our nation, we are certain to lose it.

Let us appeal to our Congressmen to heed the ample evidence that the ills of the world cannot be cured by investigations, before they bankrupt us and destroy our nation in the process.

Students Hit Housing, Banker Blames Interest

BY SAM ALLRED

As the married student population at West Texas State, now at a record 3,145 students, continues to expand, some students feel that a long-standing university policy may not be doing the job.

The policy, as explained by Virgil Henson, WTSU financial vice president, "is to tell local businessmen we would provide housing for single people and they could provide housing for married students."

The system apparently worked well enough until climbing interest rates brought local construction to a virtual standstill, but now many married students join the 3,917 students who commute daily to West Texas State from all over the Panhandle.

A faint ray of hope extending into the housing stiuation is the construction of two high rise dormitories at WTSU, scheduled to be completed by Fall, 1971. The dorms will provide housing for 500 single students.

"As the single students move into the dorms they will make available apartments for the married students," Henson said. "As of next fall I do not think we will have any problem in this area. I will be very surprised if we fill all these spaces by the fall."

A Canyon realtor agreed with Henson that construction of new dorms "will probably make more available units to those ordinarily renting."

"I think we kept up fairly well until last year," the realtor said. "When new building slowed down and students increased the entire issue just snowballed. I suspect it will be two or three years before we work our way out of it."

If the supply of rent properties increase, it may help solve two other complaints students lucky enough to find Canyon housing often voice.

"I think the demand for married housing in Canyon has had a detrimental affect on the rent prices," said Mrs. Wayne Mathews, whose husband is a Marine veteran attending WTSU. "We looked for quite a while and our duplex is expensive for us."

Mrs. John Cotten, a business major whose husband is a graduate student, hopes to be able to move to Canyon when friends leave to move to Hereford.

"I think there is a definite lack of housing available here," Mrs. Cotten said.

A Canyon banker said he felt that the country has "hit a point where interest rates will level off and relax somewhat. We should see a little more commercial building take place."

The banker cited the 48-unit apartment complex recently completed by Hunsley Builders and a projected 100 unit complex as a healthy sign that perhaps the housing shortage students are experiencing may be ending.

If nothing else, the banker at least let the students know they were not alone.

"There is a very definite need," he said. "I have two employees in the bank who are living in Amarillo and we have been looking for homes for both of them."

Couple Given Reception

A reception was recently held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Cranmer honoring Gene and Leta Bales.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bales, Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Cranmer, parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. C.O. Bales, parents of the groom of Kermit.

The reception table was decorated with a white linen and lace cloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of white and blue.

Wedding cake and punch was served by Sharon McCarley, sister of the bride and Mrs. Brenda Brock.

RM3 Gene O. Bales is now serving with the U.S. Navy in Vietnam. Mrs. Bales is residing in Kermit.

Gliding Provides Break For City Policeman

Policeman Jack Hill cruises around the streets of Canyon and the noisy silence of a sleeping city means all is well.

When he gets off work, Hill often spends his time gliding around the Hereford-Canyon area and the silence is deeper, un-noisy and a bit frightening.

Hill is one of several city residents who have joined the new move to the sport of glider flying. And, it wasn't the silence which attracted him to the sport.

"I'd read a few articles about it," he said. "I like different things and it takes a lot to excite me."

Excited he was after his first experience in a glider.

Hill took his first ride at Hereford Air Field in mid-August, and he was amazed by the maneuverability of the light-weight crafts.

He had never taken flying lessons and had, in fact, never flown a power-operated plane.

The most amazing part of gliding was the lack of noise.

"On one occasion we were flying over a feedlot and we got so low we could open the slide canopy and yell at the cattle," he said. "It drove them crazy because they couldn't figure out where the noise was coming from."

Hill has accumulated about 4½ hours of flying time in a glider. He must have 10 hours and meet various other requirements before he receives a regular glider pilot's license from the FAA.

Hill says gliders are much more uninhibited to fly than engine-powered planes.

"You can fly upside down until the blood all rushes to your brain," he said. "You don't have to worry about losing your oil."

Gliders are probably more maneuverable than regular planes, he said.

Maneuvering in a glider is accomplished along the same principle as in a plane.

But, to stay up, the pilot must watch for thermal currents to sustain his craft's altitude.

Thermal currents are strong in this area, Hill said. They are caused by asphalt pavement or feedlots or open fields.

There are two basic limitations to glider flying.

One, the glider must be towed to its altitude by a regularly powered plane.

The second deals with the thermal currents. Cold, overcast days are not suitable for glider flying. During the winter, then, flying is limited to warm days.

Hill said glider flying is fast becoming a popular sport throughout the country. But, so far, it is still in its infancy.

Policeman Jack Hill carries out some of his office functions. Off-duty, Hill likes to try his hand at one of the newer American sports--glider piloting.

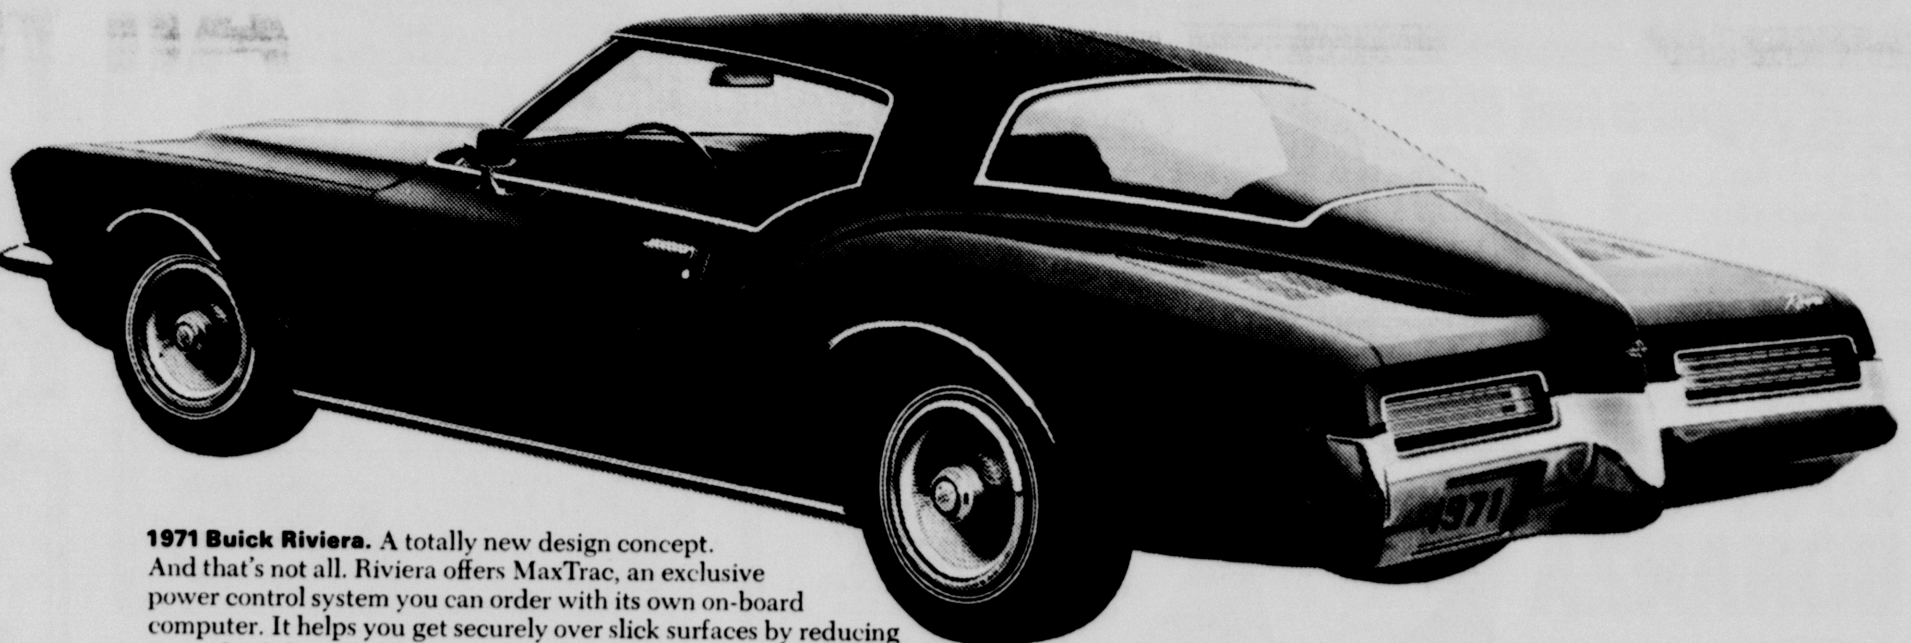
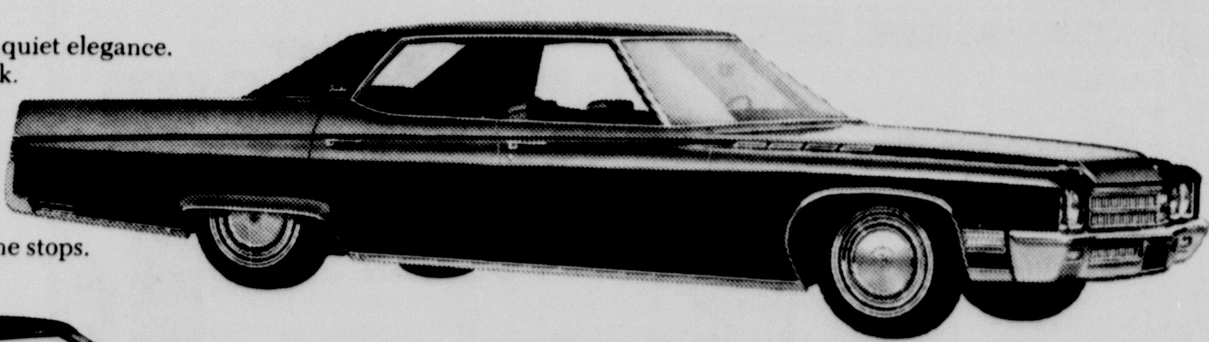
1971. Buick introduces a new set of values.

Value, not gimmicks or ornamentation, sells cars.
More people have been coming to Buick each year for just that reason. Buick concentrates on value.
And this year, Buick introduces a new set of values. Features that will help make your new Buick perform better, last longer and get you more of a return on your investment at trade-in time.
Only a Buick dealer can offer you our new set of values. So, test your values against our new ones. Then ask yourself this simple question. Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

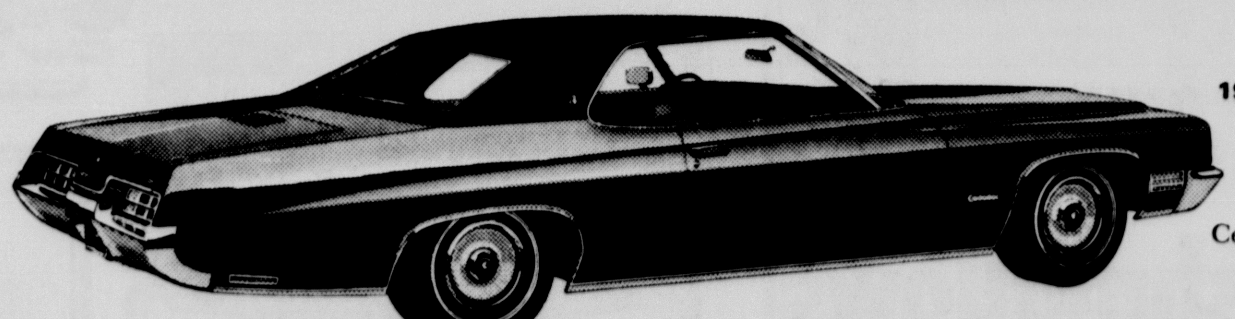
Something to believe in.



1971 Buick Riviera. A totally new design concept. And that's not all. Riviera offers MaxTrac, an exclusive power control system you can order with its own on-board computer. It helps you get securely over slick surfaces by reducing rear-wheel slipping. The new body features side-guard beams for protection, a bigger trunk, and a driver cockpit with a control center designed around the driver for new ease and convenience.



1971 Buick Electra 225. A new interpretation of quiet elegance. We've improved our Electra everywhere you look. There's more room in every direction, interiors that can be appreciated as much for their durability as for their beauty and comfort, even a new balanced braking system. A unique valve proportions braking force front to rear to help give you quick, smooth straight-line stops.



1971 Buick Centurion. This is our newest Buick, a city car with sleekness and grace as well as muscle. It features more nimble variable-ratio power steering, power front disc brakes, Full-Flo ventilation, and a vinyl roof on the Centurion Formal Coupe as standard equipment.

1971 Buick Skylark Custom. This is the car that has set the pace for value in its price class. Rocker panels that wash and dry themselves, big-Buick room and comfort inside, a cooling system that should never overheat, inner fenders that protect the outer fenders, and a modest price have put our Buick Skylark traditionally among the resale leaders in its class.

1971 Buick LeSabre. An incredible new offering of Buick value. The LeSabre, like the Riviera, Electra and Centurion, features AccuDrive, a new version of the directional stability system we pioneered. It will help give you smooth handling.

An Important Improvement. Every new Buick engine is now designed to run smoothly and efficiently, and with lower exhaust emissions, on no-lead and low-lead gasolines. And every Buick V-8 engine will have exclusive nickel-plated exhaust valves for smoother operation and longer valve life, and a new time-modulated choke to help give quicker warm-up and a more consistent fuel mixture.

Warm, Fresh Air

... direct from the manufacturer

Natural gas is the healthiest, most economical way to heat your house this winter. Gas is economical because it's the direct way to produce heat – you don't pay to convert heat to another energy source and then back to heat. And with gas you can afford to bring clean outside air into your home this winter instead of having to re-heat the same old stale air time after time.

So, if you're building or remodeling, be sure to specify gas heating. Gas is the "natural" fuel. It's like buying direct from the manufacturer. Call your heating contractor, plumber, or Pioneer Natural Gas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry C. Martin of Canyon. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shropshire of Amarillo.

Music selections were played on the piano by Rosanna Matthis.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length formal gown of French satin. The A-line skirt fell from the empire bodice. The skirt was accented twin appliqued Alencon lace panels down the front. A mantilla edged with matching Alencon lace fell from the bridal coif to the floor, forming a chapel length train.

The staircase of the bride's home was lined with flowers and green leaves decorated the walls. An arch of candles was placed at the end of the bridal path.

Miss Cathy Ramsey of Amarillo was maid of honor. She wore a long blue formal gown with empire waist.

Miss Carla Kenyon, of Dallas, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Jack Lee Kenyon, also of Dallas, and cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

W.L. Gordon of Amarillo served as best man.

The bride's brothers, Terry and Mike Martin, were ushers.

After the ceremony a poolside reception was held on the patio. Tall individual candelabras lined the backyard fence, the terrace was outlined with potted mums and wreaths of flowers were floating in the pool.

After September 27 the couple will be at home in Guymon, Oklahoma.

The bride attended WTSU and the University of Texas. She worked for two years at West Texas Arts and Hobbies.

The groom was a graduate assistant in the WT English department for the past two years and is currently teaching at Panhandle State College in Goodwell, Oklahoma.

Special guests attending the ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kenyon of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Kenyon of Dallas; Mrs. Warren Doing of Searchlight, Nevada; John Kenyon of Austin; Bill Kenyon of Lubbock; Mrs. William S. Bradley of Houston; and Mrs. Ike Robinson of Conro.

Letter. . .

mation of the family, it should!

My sister, Mrs. Stanley Vinson of Friona, Texas, a lukemia victim, became critically ill early Sunday morning to the extent that immediate treatment and special blood prepared by the Wedley Research Clinic at Dallas, Texas, could save or porlong her life. My brother-in-law requested a police escort to speed us to Amarillo where we could board the 3:00 p.m. non-stop flight to Dallas.

The Canyon patrolman piloted the way as far as his boundary would permit, then the Amarillo patrolman took over. Both were ready, alert, capable, and very efficient. (Sorry we do not have names, badge numbers, etc., but hope the time element will help identify them).

When we reached the turn off to the airport, the Amarillo policeman did not merely wave us on, but led the way right to the entrance. Even then, he did not leave, but before the family could get parked and out of the car, he was there holding the door and assisting my sister out of the car and into the terminal! When he saw there was no wheel chair available, he merely said, "Wait here a minute," but was back in a flash pushing a wheel chair! He saw that she was safely seated, and to the ticket counter we went! He stayed until we obtained tickets and made arrangements for boarding the flight.

But this is not the whole story about a dedicated person! Stanley had requested an ambulance meet the plane in Dallas, but the clerk was reluctant to make arrangements, due to company policy necessary because some people did not understand this was an extra charge, and said they could do this "only in cases of emergencies." The young officer, courteously but firmly, stepped forward and said, "This is an emeroency." Even then the manager had to make the arrangements, but was courteous and considerate when he understood that we were aware of the extra cost. The officer did not leave until my sister was at the boarding gate, and arrangements had been made to care for every detail.

The family realized that police escorts are often obtained, but they also want to convey that two were never appreciated more, and when a young, courteous, efficient man such as your officer recognized the emergency, certainly performed "above and beyond the call of duty", and helped save a life. Surely there is some way this man can be commended, his acts publicized by all sources of news media to let the public know of his dedication? May we hear more about any officer like this?

Sincerely,
Mrs. A. E. Wilkerson

Taft said the huntable population totals between 500 and 600 in the rough breaks of the canyon. The department stocked the canyon with 44 sheep in 1957.

He said thsi year's season was moved up into the early fall primarily to allow the Parks and Wildlife Department to obtain more information on the eating habits, reproduction cycle and other data about the sheep.

"The food habits are going to be different in November," he said. "And, this is in the middle of the breeding season. We will be able to obtain information on the conception rate."

The information will be gleaned from sheep killed during the season by hunters.

Author Says

Chicano Tells It Like It Is

BY CAROL CRAIN

Richard Vasquez, a high school dropout who turned from a life of the day laborer to one of researching the history and problems of his own people, told a large audience Monday night that his book, "Chicano," "tells it like it is."

The book, written by the now renowned journalistic Chicano Correspondent for the L. A. Times, is now in its fourth printing.

The book is significant Vasquez pointed out, "because it's the first book about Mexican Americans written by a Mexican American that has been published by a major publisher."

"It is really the story of my own family, our relatives, and friends, only the names have been changed. . . " he smiled. "The book begins in the 1900s and continues through subsequent generations."

Vasquez, who had been on the WT campus for part of the day laughingly told the audience that "this is the first college that I've ever talked to where my book wasn't available to the students."

The word "Chicano" is a word coined by the race that it describes, the Mexican American.

"I've traveled in Mexico," the author said, "and they call me a 'gringo.' I admit my Spanish is pretty much of a disaster. That's when I found out I wasn't a Mexican, and the only time I was called an American was when it was time to vote, or go to war."

"My definition of the 'Chicano' is half one thing and half another," he continued. "For example, I like enchiladas, but I also like bread and butter."

"I like to think of the Chicano culture as the best of the two cultures that has evolved into a culture of its own," Vasquez stated.

"It will be a long hard struggle, but the Chicano will eventually have jobs that pay as much as other races are paid."

The potpourri of races broke up into applause after this statement and several other concluding ones.

"We are brought up in a racist society," he commented indicating that it took him a while to feel proud when he was called a Mexican.

Vasquez was given a job on a California paper early in his career and began to research little known facts about the state's heritage. The articles, which ran into the hundreds, proved to be among the most popular in the paper.

He was soon thought of as an authority on California history, but Vasquez really wanted to learn more about his own people and began to research the Mexican-American culture in the Huntington Library of California.

He found that the American history books were slanted in their approach.

"Do you know why Santa Ana was defeated," he questioned. "It was because the Americans were so smart that they knew that the Mexicans took a siesta at one o'clock in the afternoon and they came back at 1:15 and slew them," he quipped.

Vasquez wanted his book to "set the record straight" about his race. He wants to change the baic attitudes of the police and the public school teachers about the Chicano.

He believes that Chicanos should get involved in campus affairs. "We must educate ourselves before we can educate others," he said.

"I can't help but think that the root of the problem is in the educational system; a child cannot learn unless he can win the approval of his teachers and the system."

Vasquez pointed out that a lot depends on "how the teachers are trained," stating that "they are a funny breed of people."

The researcher stated that many Chicanos have thick accents when they enter the schoolroom, they are met with disapproval, some are "pushed out" of the system or into classes for the mentally retarded.

It is a shame that the riots have to point out the wrongs in America, he said, calling the Los Angeles riots "hideous."

"I don't want to see it happen, but where you have an intolerable condition and explosive emotions they do happen," he said.

Speaking about the California grape growers, Vasquez said, "If a man can't pay a livable wage, he should close up shop and get out of business.

"There is nothing wrong with picking grapes or cotton, if you do it by choice. It's when you don't have a choice it is wrong." Vasquez then stated that the wrongs were in today's oppressed educational system for the Chicano.

Richard Vasquez, guest lecturer and correspondent for the Los Angeles Times, paused after his discussion the "Chicano" to give WT student Maria Mora, Lockney freshman, an autograph. The 400 plus audience gave Vasquez a standing ovation.

Buffs To Meet Pirates In Second Home Contest

West Texas State University's young Buffalo football team put some things together Saturday night to capture their first victory of the season and score their first shutout in 16 games.

The Buffaloes blanked Wichita State University's Shockers, 43-0, in their home opener to even their season record at 1-1.

Coach Joe Kerbel's Buffs host the East Carolina Pirates Saturday night in Buffalo Bowl.

Quarterback Ed Holwig and corner back Raymond Brown earned player of the week honors for their performances.

Holwig hit on six of 11 passes for 149 yards and one touchdown. Kerbel praised the 6-4, 215-pound sophomore for his play selection, passing, running of the option play and blocking.

"Ed made tremendous strides in just one week after our opener," said Kerbel. "His checking of signals at the line of scrimmage was one of the keys to victory."

Brown, 6-2, 195-pound Fort Worth senior, was moved from corner backer to safety, a position where he started for two years, and was outstanding. He made several key defensive plays and his punt returning was outstanding.

On six returns, Brown rushed for 153 yards.

Kerbel was impressed with the overall play of his club on both offense and defense.

"We moved Stan Hansen to middle linebacker from tackle and he responded with seven unassisted and 17 assisted tackles," said Kerbel.

Bill McKinney, who started last year at middle linebacker, was moved to an outside position. Alex Davis, a junior college transfer, started at Hansen's old tackle berth. Mike Hrncir, who opened the season at safety, took over Brown's corner back slot.

The head coach praised the work of both tackle Dale Donoho and guard Gary Ruston. Donoho moved from guard to takcle, replacing Wayne Adams, and Ruston, a sophomore, took Donoho's place at guard.

The East Carolina Pirates are in a rebuilding program. Mike McGee took over the head coaching job this past spring, moving from Minnesota. He replaced Clarence Stasavich, who retired from coaching to become the full-time athletic director.

Stasavich ran the single wing formation and McGee has changed to a pro-type of attack, with more passing. The Pirates have dropped a trio of games this fall, losing to Toledo, East Tennessee and Citadel.

Wilkerson Bond Set At $25,000

Emmett Leon Wilkerson, 31, of 4200 Washington in Amarillo was placed under $25,000 bond and ordered held for the next grand jury following an examining trial conducted Tuesday afternoon before Randall County Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson.

Wilkerson was arrested during the early morning hours of September 11 and charged with assault with the intent to murder after an alleged "shootout" with his father-in-law, Lewis Monroe Johnson, 58, of 4624 Western.

Testimony during the examining trial revealed that Johnson was shot once in the stomach and Wilkerson twice before Amarillo Police officers and Randall County Dep. Dan Carter arrived at the Johnson residence.

Johnson said that trouble started about 2:30 a.m. Sept. 11 when Wilkerson and his wife, Sandra Lee, rang the doorbell. He said Wilkerson asked him to get Mrs. Johnson out of bed because he wanted to talk to them, but the group moved into the bedroom when Mrs. Johnson said she was too ill to move out of the bed.

Johnson said that when the four people were in the bedroom Wilkerson told him "Lewis, I'm going to kill you."

"He pulled a gun out and shot me one time," Johnson said.

The wtiness said that when Wilkerson pointed the pistol at Mrs. Johnson, who was still in bed, he moved to a nightstand and pulled his own pistol "and shot four times, just as fast as I could."

Johnson said he owned a .22 caliber revolver and "shot at him four times but I think I hit him twice." The witness testified there had been "no scuffle, fight or argument" between the two before the shooting.

Charles Fairweather, Amarillo attorney defending Wilkerson, questioned Johnson closely but did not put his defendant on the stand.

The purpose of an examining trial following an arraignment is to determine whether enough evidence exists to hold a suspect until the next meeting of a grand jury.

Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said the legal procedure is often used by defense lawyers "as a discovery method to find out as much of the state's case as possible."

The Randall County grand jury meets on October 19. Wilkerson remained in Randall County jail late Tuesday in lieu of the $25,000 bond.
